Is It Time To "Fix" Your ARM?

A few years ago, adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs), offered incredibly low rates. But many of these loans are now adjusting to today's higher rate levels. Some homeowners are surprised to find their payments rising quite a bit, which of course can put quite a strain on your budget.

Since fixed rates are still relatively low, this might be the perfect time to refinance your adjustable-rate loan. The following questions can help you decide if refinancing is right for you:

1. How long do you expect to stay in your home? If you'll only be there another year or two, it might be best to stay with your current mortgage.
2. What is your interest rate now, and how often will it adjust? Frequent adjustments could mean higher and higher payments.
3. Are you thinking of cashing out some equity? A "cash-out refinancing" can provide extra money for home improvement projects or other expenses, as well as fixing your interest rate.

Our mortgage department offers a variety of terms, with very competitive rates. Call or come in today, and we will help you decide on a program that is right for you.
